

SUMMARY INFORMATION FOR The PBL Technology Evaluation Concept “TEC”

A popular scheme to streamline dissemination of emerging innovative technologies for early evaluation by the private sector.

Plants
Agricultural science
General biotechnology tools

Upon initial annual subscription, Subscribers will receive TEC-sheets describing all PBL technologies available at the time of subscription. A list of the technologies available can be obtained by contacting PBL.

Throughout the following 12 months, and thereafter subject to annual renewal of their subscription, Subscribers will receive TEC-sheets describing new PBL technologies as they become available for licensing. These new PBL technologies will not be released by PBL to any non-Subscribers for 6 months following their first release to Subscribers.

PBL is committed to the success of the TEC programme and will be striving to provide a substantial flow of exciting new technologies to the TECs.

Subscribers can at any time during the subscription period, and for no further fees, elect to take any of the technologies (including necessary research materials) described in TEC-sheets, for in-house evaluation for a period of one year or two years (for technologies that will require creation of transgenic plants in order to be evaluated).

A third year of evaluation may be obtained depending on subscription rate and/or payment of fees - see Schedule 1.
